

2017 Brokerslink Conference

Marrakech, 28-29 September

SCOTT CORZINE

Senior Managing Director at Ankura Consulting Group

Scott Corzine is a Senior Managing Director at Ankura Consulting Group, located in the New York, NY office. He has extensive experience in providing operational risk and resilience services to a broad portfolio of private, public and education sector clients around their governance, risk and compliance initiatives and supporting their response to disruptions and crises.

Mr. Corzine has conducted cybersecurity assessments, benchmarking and technical information security testing, and has delivered vulnerability remediation plans and long term InfoSec maturity roadmaps for global clients in multiple industry sectors.

Throughout his career, Mr. Corzine has conducted operational risk and business impact assessments, and has developed crisis management frameworks, recovery strategies, and business/operational continuity plans for public and private sector clients across the U.S. and other continents.

Mr. Corzine has developed training curricula and led business recovery workshops for New York City and FEMA. He has conducted security and vulnerability assessments, developed comprehensive emergency management plans, and facilitated training and exercises for numerous education sector clients.

Mr. Corzine was principal investigator on two research teams engaged by a unit of The National Academy of Sciences to study resilience issues in the U.S. airport sector and develop custom software to assist airports in developing their business continuity and emergency management plans.